CAUGHT IN A TROLLEY ROPE.

Remarkeble Accident to Mr. Jesse Clark on Mayo's Bridge. A unique accident took place on Mayo's Bridge resterday shortly before noon, as · result of which Mr. Jesse Clark got tangled up with a troiley rope, and there was trouble. The young man claims that he was rendered unconscious for fully five minutes. He was subsequently walking around with his chin and throat bandaged up, an ugly gash on the chin, and a raw-looking bruise on the neck, being the result of Mr. Chark's experience, according to his story. It was such an accident as would not he likely to occur again in a decade.

Mr. Clark resides at 917 St. John street.

He went to Manchester yesterday morning and upon returning he stopped on Mayo's Bridge, near the Manchester side, and river bank. While he was standing there

Defective Plumbing.

Defective Plumbing.

Application was recently made to the Council for $2.590, with which to make nuch needed repairs and alterations in the plumbing at the City Almshouse. The appropriation was reduced to $1,990, and a sub-Committee on Relief of the Poor, composed of Messrs. Gunst. Cottrell, Snead, and Walke, was appointed to recommend the necessary changes.

An inspection of the Almshouse was made yesterday afternoon by members of the committee in company with Superintendent Davis and Plumbing Inspector Arsell.

Arsell.

The inspection proved the urgent need of the work from both a sanitary and economic standpoint. Everything about the building was as cleanly as it was possible to make it, under present conditions, but the need of repairs to the plumbing was manifest. A great saving in steam can also be made by certain changes, which will involve a comparatively small. which will involve a comparatively small
